Alaska Junior Theater is a private, nonprofit organization that has been bringing the best in professional theatre from around the world to Alaska’s young audiences since 1981. Each year, more than 40,000 students attend a variety of live performances at the Alaska Center for the Performing Arts. For many students, our school show presentations are their only exposure to live performing arts.

Each show we present has a strong educational component, and shows are linked to Alaska Content Standards. Alaska Junior Theater also offers teacher and student workshops, study guides and classroom transportation to our performances.

We are committed to keeping ticket prices low, allowing children of all financial levels to experience professional, live theatre. Our low educational ticket price of $8 covers only half our costs of presenting shows. To subsidize the remaining $8 of each ticket, we actively fundraise and rely on the support of corporations, foundations and individuals. In addition, we fundraise to offer full scholarships to students with financial need.

Alaska Junior Theater asked area teachers to review our upcoming 2017–2018 performances for direct connections to Alaska Content Standards. The direct connections for the Step Afrika! are listed to the right, which will assist in lesson planning and will assure teachers that Alaska Junior Theater programs help classes meet curriculum connections.

To get a complete copy of the Alaska Content Standards, visit the following web address: www.eed.state.ak.us/contentstandards. Additional information about these standards can be found at the National Association for Music Education via http://www.menc.org/resources/view/national-standards-for-music-education.

Special thanks to Deanna James for her help in this effort.

1) The artistic impact and inspiration for more than 250,000 children each year across the nation – and the world.

2) New material and expanded roster generated by Pushcart’s artistic team including in-roads in Holocaust Education through the arts with gentle introductions to this difficult subject. Our current production, “The Last . . . Butterfly” is an innovative and artistically beautiful production, linked to an Artists Residency and features an exhibit of art work by the children of the Terezin Concentration Camp.

3) Peer recognition of outstanding work resulting in selection for numerous national showcases (including the prestigious PACT and ARTS PRESENTERS showcases in NYC) that have led to national tours.

4) Pushcart’s leadership role in collaborative efforts with other key arts in education organizations designed to maximize artistic strength and minimize duplication of effort. Over the past several years, Pushcart has collaborated with other art organizations on developing Sensory Friendly Performances for children on the Autism Spectrum and with other special needs.

5) International recognition and acclaim, including a highly successful tour of the Czech Republic in June, 2002 and arts education for teens in Ethiopia in 2006.

Pushcart Players developed hundreds of replicable arts residency and workshop programs as well as wrote and produced twenty-seven original musical plays that address culturally diverse issues, make history vivid and social studies relevant for students. The company has traveled more than two million miles to bring these programs to 10 million young people in 35 states across the nation.

In 1991, Pushcart brought word of the Arts in NJ to the former Soviet Union in a highly successful performance tour for which they commended and recorded in the Congressional Record for “. . . their contribution to a greater understanding between our two cultures.” U. S. Senator Frank Lautenberg stated, “Pushcart Players has proven how art can transcend cultural barriers.”

Pushcart Players’ mission is to provide professionally produced theater, workshops and residencies for K – 12 students to foster in-depth understanding, discovery, participation and life long love for and support of the arts. The artistic philosophy of Pushcart Players is rooted in the belief that the arts – “an inseparable part of the human journey” – are an essential component of the educational process in that they help children grow intellectually, socially and emotionally and provide a powerful tool in reaching one’s unique potential.

Founded in 1974 as a professional ensemble of artists & educators (teachers, writers, musicians, actors, designers & directors) whose primary goal was to increase the aesthetic world of children by introducing and involving them in the arts in schools.

Traveling to schools and theaters throughout the nation was and continues to be a high priority so that all children in a given community have the advantage of arts programming prepared, conducted and presented by outstanding professionals in this artistic field.

Because theatre is a synthesis of all the arts and provides an excellent vehicle for the introduction of music, dance, poetry, prose and other artistic expression, it became the centerpiece of many innovative residencies and workshops offered in Pushcart’s Arts In Education programming.
Peter and the Wolf was written in 1936 by a Russian composer, pianist and conductor named Sergei Prokofiev. Prokofiev was commissioned by the Central Children’s Theatre in Moscow to create a symphony to cultivate musical tastes in children beginning with their first years of education. So interested in the request, Prokofiev finished the piece in four days and Peter and the Wolf was debuted on May 2, 1936.

Although unsuccessful at first, Peter and the Wolf became one of the most well-known musical pieces of its time. In 1946, Walt Disney produced an animated version of the symphony. You can find the cartoon Disney version at http://www.youtube.com/watch?v=ILI3s7Wonvg.

Meet the Characters and Instruments

Peter - played by string instruments.
Peter’s tune is light and melodious, helping us imagine him as joyful and carefree.

Sasha (Bird) - played by the flute.
Sasha’s song is filled with melodious chirping, providing a strong image of the little bird fluttering and chattering away.

Ivan (Cat) - played by the clarinet.
The cat’s music has a quiet, sneaky quality and suggests swift movement of her paws in the meadow.

Hunters - played by the timpani.
Kettle drums can make explosive sounds like the “bang” of a gun. The melody of the hunters is joined by other instruments and suggests their humor and bungling as they march through the forest.

Wolf - played by the french horn.
The wolf’s music has a rich and haunting quality. The music is bold and a bit foreboding.

Grandpa - played by the bassoon.
Grandfather’s melody has a slow, blustering sound helping us picture the lumbering movement of the cranky old man. But the tone helps us understand the warmth and softness in Grandfather’s heart.

Sonya (Duck) - played by the oboe.
The melody has a waddling feel to it and helps us imagine Clara’s movements.
Create An Instrument

Shaking Drums

Put rice, beans or pasta shells in a paper cup. Tape a second cup over the top (lip to lip). Shake in rhythm. Do this with different amounts of each item in different sets. Compare the sounds.

Rubber Band Banjo

Stretch different size rubber bands around an empty tissue box. Pluck the bands and discover the different sounds based on thickness and tightness.

Music and Movement

The personality and movement of each character in Peter and the Wolf is suggested by his or her music. Once again, play the score for students and invite them to move about as they hear the changes in the music.

For example:
- Skip or run in patterns for Peter’s music.
- Twirl, flutter, hop for the bird.
- Waddle, swim, flutter for the duck.
- Creep slowly, smoothly, low to the ground for the cat.

We have a wonderful opportunity at this performance to help youth learn about attending live performances. Please discuss the following with your students:

1. Sometimes young people do not realize how a live performance differs from watching a movie or television show. A live presentation has not been pre-recorded with the mistakes edited out. This makes it riskier for the performer and more exciting for the audience. It also means the audience has a real contribution to make to the overall event. Each audience member affects those around him/her as well as the performer. Concentrate to help the performers. The audience gives energy to the performer who uses that energy to give life to the performance.

2. An usher will show you where to sit. Walk slowly and talk quietly as you enter the theater.

3. For safety's sake, do not lean over or sit on the balcony railings or box ledges. Please be careful on the stairs. Avoid horseplay and running throughout the building.

4. If necessary, use the restroom before the performance begins. Adults need to accompany young students.

5. You may talk quietly to the people next to you until the performance begins.

6. When the lights in the theater begin to dim, it is the signal that the performance is about to begin. Stop talking and turn your attention to the stage.

7. Stay in your seat throughout the entire performance.

8. During the performance, listen quietly and watch closely. Talking during the performance will distract other audience members and performers. Try not to wiggle too much and don’t kick the seat in front of you. These disruptions make it hard for others around you to concentrate on the show.

9. Sometimes during a performance you may respond by laughing, crying, or sighing. By all means feel free to do so! LAUGHING IS APPROPRIATE. (Teachers, please do not hush the students while they are laughing.) If something is funny, it’s good to laugh. If you like something a lot, applaud. This will let the performers know that you are enjoying the show.

10. At the end of the show, applaud to say thank you to the performers. The performers will bow to acknowledge your appreciation and thank you for coming.

11. When the lights get brighter in the theater, the show is over. Stay in your seats until the OnStage Coordinator dismisses your school.

12. Please remember:
   • Taking photographs or using recording devices is strictly prohibited.
   • Beverages and food, including gum and candy, are not allowed in the theater.
   • You are only one person among several hundred in the audience.
   • Please respect the performers and your fellow audience members.

Please inform your chaperones that ushers will be available throughout the performance if there are any difficulties.
Alaska Junior Theater and the cast of Peter and the Wolf would like to thank you for your time and support.

We hope you had as much fun as we did! See you at the next show!
